

Using both css and attributes

```
<html>
<head>
<style> img {
  width:100%;
}
</style>
</head>
<body>
```

It is better to use the style attribute (instead of the width and height attributes), because it prevents internal or external styles sheets to change the original size of an image:

```

```

```
</body>
</html>
```

Produces

